

THE INN AT EAST BEACH FACT SHEET

DESCRIPTION: Devoted guests return time and again to The Inn at East Beach for its friendly service and fabulous location—just steps from Santa Barbara’s most popular stretch of sand. Recently refurbished in a contemporary style, the 33-room hotel is celebrated for its unique character and unfailing comfort. The innkeepers treat visitors like family, and the property, nestled in one of California’s most exclusive neighborhoods, offers travelers a taste of the good life without breaking the bank.

Stroll from your room to the picturesque palm-lined waterfront, or take a short taxi ride downtown. Here you’ll find everything from museums and restaurants to quaint gift stores and stylish boutiques. Enjoy daily complimentary continental breakfast before striking out to explore the city—or simply relax by the heated pool, saving your energy for the nightlife.

Santa Barbara is a world-class show town and The Inn at East Beach places its guests front row. Complimentary high-speed Internet is accessible throughout the property. Beach blankets, umbrellas and boogie boards are available in the lobby. With affordable rooms, spacious suites and unmatched personal service, this is your key to the good life—Santa Barbara style.

HISTORY: The Inn at East Beach has been in operation for almost half a century. During the Reagan presidential years, the East Beach Lodge (as it was known then) was host to the President's support staff during his many visits to his Santa Barbara ranch, including. White House Communications, White House Motor Pool, the Secret Service and the White House valets and stewards.

One of the Inn's proudest moments occurred in March of 1983 when England's Queen Elizabeth visited President Reagan at his ranch for lunch. The President's personal chef, a frequent guest at East Beach, chose to prepare his multi-course gourmet Mexican lunch for the Queen and the President in his spacious kitchen suite at the hotel rather than the rather cramped ranch kitchen. Four wheel drive vehicles driven by specially assigned personnel ferried each course all the way to the Presidential retreat.
